

MISSION STATEMENT

The ultrasound division of Radiology provides diagnostic medical imaging services using sound waves, which meets or exceeds the national standard requirements. Technical personnel are specifically trained in sonographic physics, bioeffects and applications and are appropriately certified in accordance with the national ultrasound guidelines as set forth by the American Institute of Ultrasound in Medicine (AIUM), the Society of Diagnostic Medical Sonographers (SDMS), and the American College of Radiology (ACR).

Our mission is to provide a high standard of patient care under the guidelines set forth by the hospital and respective governing bodies and to provide an atmosphere conducive to the well being of the patient while performing the “state of the art” sonographic examinations for diagnostic medical ultrasound as a diagnostic tool for localization and monitoring. In addition to our patient services, we encourage knowledge, which is unique to a large medical teaching hospital.
